TV's Chris Lambton is bringing some "Lawn and Order" to the Fort Lauderdale Home Show!

Fort Lauderdale, FL...October 18, 2017...Whether you're still cleaning up after the hurricane or need to spruce up the backyard before the holidays, DIY Network's Chris Lambton is bringing some "Lawn and Order" to the Fort Lauderdale Home Design and Remodeling Show. Lambton is host of DIY Networks "Yard Crashers" and appears with his celebrity wife Peyton on HGTV's "Going Yard." He co-stars in a new show, "Lawn and Order" with Sara Bendrick (a featured seminar guest at the 2016 Fort Lauderdale Home Show.)

The Fort Lauderdale Home Show returns to the Broward County Convention Center, from November 17-19th, 2017. Save $3.00 on adult admission when purchasing tickets online by November 16, 2017.

Show-goers will enjoy navigating through approximately 250 exhibitor booths and 175,000 square feet of exhibition space and find everything from the smallest items in home décor and holiday gifts, to furniture, kitchen and bathroom remodeling products, landscaping, home automation, hurricane protection, construction services and more.

"We understand that restoring and repairing a home can often be a lengthy and expensive process," states Adam Kayce, Vice President and Show Director for Home Show Management. "Therefore, we are committed to bringing together hundreds of businesses featuring an incredible selection of products and services ranging from: furniture, hurricane impact windows and doors, kitchen and bathroom remodeling, flooring, patio design, home automation, solar and much more. Most businesses offer special prices available only at the Show. Since the holidays are approaching too, we will also focus on interior design and home décor exhibits, seminars and feature areas."
